

A NOTE FROM LOAVES & FISHES / FRIENDSHIP TRAYS

It's So Much More Than Food - Georgette

It was an emotional phone call. When Georgette received her first grocery delivery she knew she had to pick up the phone and call. With her voice breaking, she shared, "This has been a rescue for me. I thank God for your organization."

Georgette is a self-described workaholic whose unexpected illness had her at a standstill. Doctors were hopeful that with a nutritious diet, she could control her glucose levels. After a hospital stay kept her out of work, the bills began to pile up, rent had increased and food prices were soaring. The end of each month was a struggle to make ends meet. Her doctor made a referral to Loaves & Fishes / Friendship Trays for a week's worth of groceries delivered directly to her door. She wanted to make sure that everyone knows that the food referrals are keeping her afloat. "You never know what people are going through. You don't wake up one morning and say, 'I want to be sick.' I have never needed help before and I never thought it would be me."
